CONSERVATION REPORT CARD

EVALUATING THE 112TH CONGRESS, 1ST SESSION

Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund educates the public about conservation issues and generates grassroots efforts to ensure that members of Congress and the president hear from constituents on pending legislation and regulations.

Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund advocates in Washington, D.C. for legislation to safeguard wildlife and habitat and fights efforts to undermine conservation laws, such as the landmark Endangered Species Act. The Action Fund also publishes the Conservation Report Card to help citizens hold their legislators accountable by providing information on how lawmakers voted on important conservation issues. An online version of the Conservation Report Card, which contains detailed and updated information about key votes, is available on the Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund website:

Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund's 2011 Conservation Report Card measures the commitment of U.S. senators and representatives to wildlife and habitat conservation during the first session of the 112th Congress. At a glance, it tells you how well your elected representatives are safeguarding our natural heritage for our children and grandchildren.

The 2011 report card reviews four Senate votes, three that blocked attempts to cut funding for important conservation programs and one that stopped legislation that would have expedited oil and gas development permits by bypassing the review process. It also summarizes 20 votes by the House of Representatives. This was the most anti-environmental House in the history of Congress. Its legislative agenda included cutting funding for vital programs to protect wild lands; weakening landmark air, water and wildlife protection laws; halting efforts to address climate change; and making it easier to drill for oil off our coasts.
